

PUBLIC LEDGER

THIRD YEAR.

MAYSVILLE, KY., FRIDAY, DECEMBER 28, 1894.

ONE CENT.

Purely Business!

The cost of a newspaper represents a cash outlay. No publisher can afford to give advertising "notices" free. The paper is compelled to lose over her counter free gifts of dry goods or shooes. A newspaper is a legitimate business. Its expenses are its stock in trade and advertising is the price for information in what part of the paper they appear.

The Continued Costs

Upon THE LEDGER for free notices have become so burdensome that we prefer to publish the following terms:

For Notices of Ships.

excursons, fares, or other public enter- tainments where a fee is charged, for the publication of which, in re- spect, etc., THE LEDGER will charge 10 cents for each line, and thereafter 10 cents for each additional line, to be the insertion rate. This, how- ever,

Do Not Include

notices of Lodge meetings or Church services which must be paid for in lines.

Avoidance of Disputes.

Understandings are unprofitable. The rate for Business Locate in THE LEDGER is 10 cents a line for the first insertion, and 10 cents for each subse- quent insertion. A customer orders a "line" and says, "I want a 'line' for '10 cents'." "I'll tell you when to take it out," he says to the bookkeeper. "But for a 'line' you must pay 10 cents a line for two months—30 days—the bill is 10 cents a day for 30 days, or a 'kick' and a controversy, followed by a protest, and a demand for a divorce from trouble, no 'full' Advertiser notices will be accepted hereafter. Let's have a 'line' for 10 cents a line, and the termination will be pleasant all around."

All matter for publication must be handed in at 10 o'clock in the morn- ing of each day.

If you have friends visiting you, or if you are going away on a visit, please drop us a note to this effect.

THE HOUSEHOLD PET.

There is joy in all the household when the tootsy-wotsy youth becomes the pink possessor of a white initial. And his spine it seems to stiffen and to lengthen many yards.

AMERICA FOR AMERICANS

McKINLEY AND WILSON ABROAD.

In 1890 William McKinley was burned in effigy in the English manufacturing city of Sheffield; but in 1894 William L. Wilson was dined and wined in London because he is the author of a Free-trade Tariff Bill. These are significant facts.

POPE LEO has put the seal of condemnation on the Oddfellows, Knights of Pythias and Sons of Temperance—three benevolent and reformatory institutions peculiar to the United States. The Masonic Order has long been interdicted; and yet Masonry has continued to grow and do good. The Oddfellows and Knights of Pythias will most likely keep up the work of aiding members, visiting the sick, relieving the distressed, burying the dead, and educating the orphans. The great American people recognize no ruler save the President of these United States.

BOOMING!

SOME SEQUELS TO THE LATE REPUBLICAN VICTORY.

Returning Prosperity—Factories Starting Up—Work for American Workmen.

Before the election THE LEDGER argued that it would be the best policy for the country to encourage the opening of American factories and workshops, the return of business to its wretched channels, profitable and steady employment for American workmen, and an era of general prosperity all along the line. That hope held out by the Ledger was not false, and is being fully demonstrated. Below are a few evidences of the business revival that treads on the heel of the great Republican victory.—EDITOR.

The Germania (O.) Cigar and Tobacco Company will start its factories on January 1st, at which time it will give employment to forty good cigar makers. The work will be steady the year round.

The Lenoir Can Company's plant at Lenoir, Tenn., one of the most thoroughly equipped in the country, has just been completed and goes to work on good contracts for cars at once. The capacity of the works is fifteen cars per day.

The Bass Car Wheel Works, also at Lenoir, Tenn., have been completed and will begin to make cars at once. This is claimed to be the most extensive plant of its kind in the South, and one of the best equipped in the United States.

Special report to the Manufacturers Record shows that the improvement previously mentioned in Southern business interests continues to broaden. This is indicated not only by an increased demand for some lines of manufactured goods, but also by a very decided increase in the interest in new judicial undertakings and railroad enterprises. Cotton manufacturing is especially attracting much attention, as many new mill companies are now being projected, while mills already in operation are enlarging their capacity, adding new machinery, and in quite a number of cases, running on double turn.

Joyous throbbing life

offered to the chronic invalid would be regarded with distrust! Long suffering leaves the patient hopeless—he believes no more in any cure. Would that such hopeless ones could read the testimonials of Brown's Iron Bitters.

They point a way to relief and health, and they are genuine!

For twelve long years a great invalid from kidney and other trouble, tried a number of medicines recommended by physicians without receiving the desired benefit. Then I gave Brown's Iron Bitters to the doctor, who brought me off my back. Today I am well again.

WILL CONTEST.

Turney Declines the Offer Made by Judge Lurton.

He Says He Believes He Was Elected Governor of Tennessee.

He Writes a Letter to the Judge, Intimating That a Full Investigation Will Demonstrate That He Is Entitled to Hold the Governorship a Second Term.

Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 28.—The following letter from Gov. Turney to Judge H. L. Lurton shows that there is absolutely no ground for the rumors sent out from Nashville that Gov. Turney will abandon the contest for governor of Tennessee, and permit H. Clay Evans to take office:

"EXECUTIVE CHAMBER.

"NASHVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 26, 1894.

"Hon. H. L. Lurton:

"Dear Sir—I thank you for the honor and compliment of appointment as special counsel to be sent certain railroad securities, etc.

"I learned of the appointment through the American. I did not, of course, understand the nature of the work to be performed. Since arriving in the city Thursday morning and informing myself, I fell constrained to decline.

"While there may be no legal cause of objection on my part, I yet feel that while I occupy the position of governor, I ought not to be in direct collision with a different character and responsibility. While it will be several months before a commissioner will be called to the active discharge of the duties imposed by the terms of your decree, the objection indicated will obtain until then.

"I am legally re-elected, and that a full investigation will so demonstrate, and I will be governor for a second term. Again thanking you for the trust and confidence you place in me, I am very sincerely yours,

"H. C. TURNER.

There is no question about the governorship being contested.

PAPAL DECREES.

Our Against Secret Societies Will Be Resolved.

HALIFAX, Dec. 28.—The papal decree admonishing Catholics to avoid membership in the three societies, Odd-Fellows Sons of Temperance and the Knights of Pythias, will be read in the cathedral Sunday.

At a meeting in Chicago of the archbishops, in 1893, the societies and methods of the societies were discussed, and the verdict in favor of their condemnation was unanimous. It was decided that they should be included with the secret societies either affiliated directly with the masons or following their methods, and as such they were inimical to the Roman Catholic church. This decision was read to the college of cardinals at Rome, and a committee was appointed to act upon it. After a long and exhaustive examination this committee ratified the decision of the archbishops, and Pope Leo XIII. gave the edict his official approval.

The decree throughout the country will not discuss the probable effect of the edict, because as a high ecclesiastical authority of this city states, it is a delicate subject to discuss, and there are specific reasons why they should refrain from saying anything more than that they were condemned by the archbishops.

Skipped His Cook.

PASSAIC, N. J., Dec. 28.—Since the elopement of his husband several months ago with Johanna Jardine, domestic to his employer, Mrs. Annie Green has been doing her best to help him. She had a desire to do more, and suddenly conceived a strong affection for Miss Jardine. He secured all the money he could conveniently command and eloped with the young woman. Mr. Green's wife, the daughter of a former domestic's mother, taking with her a vial of vitriol. "Where's my husband and your wretched daughter?" she demanded. She hastily pulled the stopper from the vial and threw the vitriol over the woman, with the remark, "There you have it," and then fled. The intended victim was not badly burned.

Steelworkers' Wages Reduced.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 28.—The wage scale for the Edgar Thomson steel works of the Edgar Thomson Steel Co., at Braddock, Pa., was reduced yesterday morning, with the engine and engine and suddenly reduced in all departments, including the common laborers. The only exceptions are employees of the foundries and the builders. The reduction in the blast furnace department amounts to fifteen per cent. In other departments the rates are the same that were imposed at the Homestead plant.

Skipped His Son.

EDMOND, Okla., Dec. 28.—The westbound Missouri Pacific passenger train from Kansas City left yesterday morning with the engine and engine and engine, baggage, mail, smoking and chair car threw from the track. The chair car, containing sixteen passengers, was lifted from the track and set on the ground without injuring a passenger.

Sawyer Earthquakes.

ROSE, Dec. 28.—Sawyer has suffered from several earthquakes in the last twenty-four hours, and many damage is reported. In the California district at the extreme south of Continental City, was shaken severely Thursday. The most violent shock, either in Italy or Sicily, was felt in Milazzo.

sum of four.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 28.—Sam Cox, a well known politician of this city, died Thursday. He was known all over the country from his connection with the coal sheet for miners. Cox always says that he served several months in the penitentiary.

GOT THE MONEY.

A Writ of Attachment Served on Cole Breckinridge in the Pike Opera Box.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 28.—Just before the time set for the appearance of W. C. G. Breckinridge at Pike opera house, where he lectured Thursday night, a highly amusing and sensational scene was enacted for the benefit of a few spectators and without any hesitation on the part of the audience.

Three men with huge stormcoats pulled up around their ears climbed the marble steps to the theater. While they went the snow from their hats and went to the ticket-seller's window and asked:

"What is the admission?"

"One dollar," replied the man on the inside.

The inquirer slowly doffed his overcoat and took it off in case of a companion. The next minute he had placed his left foot on the railing outside of the box office, and with the remark: "All right, Al," ducked his head into the box office. The spectators, who thought he was a coward, gave a mighty push forced him through so suddenly that the human ramrod struck the ticket-seller fairly in the breast. Both went down in a heap. The man who had so precipitately gone to his feet at once began a scramble for the money, which had rolled all over the floor.

"Who are you?" had demanded the ticket seller, as his assailant arose and began to count the money he had managed to get.

"I am Constable Kinney, and I have here a writ of attachment upon the receipts of the lecture delivered by one W. C. G. Breckinridge. The attachment is to satisfy a claim of $45,30 due Attorney General of Indiana for professional services." And the constable kept on counting the money.

It was at this moment that Breckinridge forced his way into the box office. He was in a fever of passion, and, beheld Kinney coolly counting the money he angrily asked the ticket seller:

"Who is that man?"

"He's an officer of the law."

"An officer be—. He ought to be shot down like a dog."

Two men, who had been on the outside had not been idle. They had walked to the window and their hands were significantly concealed in the depths of their overcoat pockets. But no violence was offered Kinney by the two men, who stood by the door.

A moment later, however, Desha Breckinridge, the colonel's son, came storming in, in an with an oath, attempted to seize the constable. He received a heavy blow in the face that staggered him. With one hand on his mouth and the other on his hip, he pocketed the Kinney.

"You dirty dog! I want redress."

"Do you?"

"Yes. I would like to meet you at the grand hotel," snarled the Kentuckian.

"What for?"

"I'll challenge you to a duel."

"Duel, Tom, and Kinney continued to stand at the window.

When he had counted $60, the amount of the bill for services and costs, he coolly went to the door, and, forcing it open, walked away. His two companions were Al Voelker and Clerk Kirshman, of "Squire Kushman's" court. Kinney and his two companions stepped into a sleigh on Fourth street and drove away.
